Stephanie Thorpe Rocks at Social Media Week

Happy Holidays!

I hope this finds you well. It's been a busy fall for me. I had the privilege of speaking on 2 panels at Stan Lee's Comikaze in September: 'Geek Girls Create' and 'Comics, Lit & New Media'. Then it was off to this year's Social Media Week in LA. My IAWTV Nominated project, Shelf Life, was featured at the event. It was an absolute blast!

I was very honored to receive the award for Best Director of a Webisode for my project, ElfQuest: A Fan Imagining, at the IFQ Film and Webisode Festival. ElfQuest was also honored with an Award of Merit from the Best Shorts Competition in October. Check out updates here:

I was delighted to be October's first featured interview on ACM Computers in Entertainment, where I shared my experience as a new media maven on web-series producing and acting. <http://cie.acm.org/articles/interview-stephanie-thorpe/> I'm currently shooting episodes of Shelf Life, and The Ladies & The Gents, and star in new series Fury of Solace, where I play reporter Starla Carter. <http://furyofsolace.com/videos/>

You can also catch a glimpse of my crafty side as I decoupage a display shelf with the very funny Bonnie Burton on Geek DIY. It features comics, a glitter fight and googly eyes! www.youtube.com/watch?v=CUM2eT1VBL0

Wishing you all the best for 2013!
